

The European Movement International is organizing a special training in Brussels for students interested in EU affairs and international politics from 20 to 26 February 2012.

The EMI Training Academy is a course for students who want to broaden their knowledge of the EU. It is a unique occasion to meet professionals, visit the Institutions and discover the city. Thanks to the EMI's extensive network, students have the opportunity to meet high-level speakers and discuss a broad range of topics in a relaxed and friendly atmosphere. Last but not least, it is a great multicultural experience as students coming from different countries and backgrounds get to know each other and learn about various cultures.

According to the countries represented in the group, meetings will be scheduled with organizations of interest in Brussels, such as Missions to the EU, lobbies, NGOs, think tanks, etc. Visits to the Institutions and other usual meetings will still be part of the program, but a special focus will be given on EU external relations and Enlargement.

Deadline for applications is the 30th of November 2011.
