The Italian National Council for Research (C.N.R.) along with the Italian Development Cooperation has recently published a call for 6-month high training in Italy dedicated to young researches and practitioners (graduated professionals and officials). There are 70 grants, fully paid by CNR, to be share among a pool of eight countries, among which Serbia.Deadline: Feb. 28th , 2014 15:00 CET

A new diplomatic initiative, worth a significant financial contribution provided by the Italian Development Cooperation as well as a co-funding made available by CNR, 70 selected graduates, graduated professionals and officials (year of birth not prior to 1973) in public institutions from the recipient countries (Morocco, Tunisia, Egypt, Lebanon, Serbia, Montenegro, Bosnia Herzegovina, Albania) will benefit from a six-month specialized training course run at CNR Institutes in Italy.

Courses will cover the following macro-sectors:
28 positions for Marine Engineering (Governance and management of marine and fishing policy)

28 positions for Agri-food Sciences (Management and utilization of food resources aimed at the sustainability of agriculture and forestry, and at the mitigation of the effects of climate change)

14 positions for Cultural Heritage (Promotion and preservation of cultural heritage).

The fellowship will offer the following benefits:
- Logistic and administrative support during candidates' stay in Italy
- A gross sum of 1,600€ per month for six months
- Work accident and health insurance
- Return flight ticket Online application and Info: http://www.cnr.it/diplomazia/

Deadline: Feb. 28th , 2014 15:00 CET